I`m a beginner Frontend developer, and looking for a company, where I can increase my skills due helping the employer meet its own goals. I`m interested in learning new methods and technologies that helps me to grow as a Frontend Developer.

What differentiates me from other employees are my strong organizational and analytical skills, attention for details with a slight touch of perfectionism. I am a self-motivated, creative individual who desires to grow professionally in a team setting, regardless of whether it is a large or a small company.

I`d like to become a member of an experienced team in the role of Frontend Developer.
